

Florida Department of Environmental Protection
Staff Profile

Steven M. Bertone

Resource Management Specialist/Cultural Resources

Steven M. Bertone is a Resource Management Specialist for Rookery Bay National Estuarine Research Reserve in Naples, Florida. Mr. Bertone's duties include cultural resource documentation, marine mammal stranding coordination, exotic animal control, endangered species monitoring, recreational activities surveying, and maintenance of the Reserve's boundary signs, fencing and gates. Bertone is also a senior Prescribed Burn Technician for the Reserve.

Designated by the Division of Historical Resources as an Archaeological Monitor for the Reserve, Bertone has received a certificate from the Southwest Florida Archaeological Society for archaeological laboratory techniques and analysis. He received his Associate of Science degree in Zoology from the University of Massachusetts in Boston.

Bertone moved to Florida in 1985 and joined the staff of Rookery Bay in 1987.

